A 21-YEAR-OLD Haverhill man has been jailed for five years and four months after admitting beating a delivery driver with a baseball bat and stealing her bag.

Hari Farlie, of Montfort Court, was sentenced at Ipswich Crown Court on Friday for the robbery and 11 other offences, including assault, burglary and criminal damage.

Farlie was arrested following the robbery, which took place at around 7.20pm on Wednesday, June 29, in Shepherds Court, Haverhill.

A woman in her 40s was delivering food when she was hit over the head with a baseball bat and then repeatedly struck by Farlie.

As a result of the beating, the woman was taken to Addenbrooke's with serious injuries including facial fractures, cuts, and substantial bruising to her legs and body. She later described how the attack had left her with anxiety as well as facial scars and chronic headaches.

Farlie stole her shoulder bag, which contained cash and bank cards.

He was arrested in the early hours of Thursday, June 30 and was later charged with robbery as well as three separate assaults on three different people.

Two of the assaults, one causing actual bodily harm and one assault by beating, took place following an incident in Fornham Road, Bury St Edmunds on Saturday, February 20, this year.

The other assault, also causing actual bodily harm, took place following an incident in Feltham, West London, on Friday, November 20, last year.

Farlie made his first court appearance on Friday, July 1, at Ipswich Magistrates' Court. He admitted the of

Goff braves the shave

... gone tomorrow in charity shave

A KIND-hearted nurse who works at Arthur Rank Hospice had all her hair shaved off in support of a new hospice the charity is building.

Haverhill resident Sheridan Goff, who works for the Inpatient Unit, said goodbye to her dark locks on Monday evening when she had them shaved off at Mr Barbers in Newmarket.

She said: "I have seen first-hand the difference
the care of Arthur Rank Hospice can have for our patients and their relatives."

"We are in the process of building a new hospice in Cambridge, so what better time to try and raise some money for an amazing cause."

'Help us create a £275k space'

A CHURCH with plans to create a new community space is calling for help with fundraising.

The Old Independent
Church in Haverhill's Hamlet Road is taking on an ambitious £275,000 project to create a new space in its main church building.

The project was put together after members of the congregation decided it was too expensive to continue running both the church and the church hall, which are large Grade II-listed buildings. They are set to sell off the church hall.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The community groups that currently use the hall – ranging from Girl Guides to a diabetes group – will have their activities moved to the new space.

Church members are hoping the new space, which will have better disabled accessibility, will attract even more community groups.

Church secretary Linda Mynott said: "If we can manage to get the new space and only have the upkeep of one building, it will give the congregation more free time to concentrate on our own outreach in the town and what we can do for the community."

Some of the £275,000 costs will be covered by the sale of the hall and potential grant funding. But Linda said the congregation will still have a substantial amount of fundraising to undertake.

She invited anyone who wanted to get involved to go along to a fundraising breakfast at the church at 9am on September 20, or to call her on (01440) 702 778.

Lottery millionaire will bankroll 'bonkers' party

HAVERHILL multi-millionaire Euromillions lottery winner Adrian Bayford is backing the Eccentric Party of Great Britain.

His shop Black Barn Records in Cambridge's Burleigh Street has officially become the headquarters for the party in the city.

Mr Bayford, who lives in the Haverhill area, is also set to become a party sponsor.

Lord Toby Jug, who founded the Eccentric Party 18 months ago, welcomed Mr Bayford on board, saying: "We are chuffed, obviously. We have got a sponsor who realises we are a safe bet at the elections."

"At the end of the day the Eccentric Party is not just a joke party, it is a serious party of protest and the party of the people."

A Cambridge branch of the party was launched at the store yesterday.

Music-loving Mr Bayford won £148 million on the Eu-

JULIAN MAKEY
@JulianMakeyCN

romillions lottery in 2012 with his then wife Gillian.

At the time he ran the Suffolk Music Centre record store in Haverhill's Queen Street, but closed the shop in 2013.

He returned to retail earlier this year when he opened Black Barn Records which sells records, CDs and memorabilia from the worlds of music and film.

Mr Bayford said: "I'm so fed up with the other so-called sensible mainstream political parties."

"At least the Eccentric Party are honest in that they admit to being totally bonkers."

"They're the only party that would get my vote - they're a real party of the people and a true party of protest. That's why I'm officially endorsing and sponsoring the Eccentric Party."

Lord Toby, a musician from St Ives, launched the Eccentric Party after a rift with the Official Monster Raving Loony Party, which he had represented for many years.

Lord Toby and party chairman Lord Bungle were at the store for the launch. Lord Toby presented shop manager Harriet Elsdon with a top hat given to him by his political mentor Screaming Lord Sutch to add to the collection of rare memorabilia at the shop.

Pop singer Screaming Lord Sutch founded the Official Monster Raving Loony Party and also gave Lord Toby, who played guitar in his band The Savages, his name.

Lord Toby said Black Barn Records would become a Cambridge base for the Eccentric Party during election campaigns in the city.

He said Mr Bayford enjoyed music and that the party attracted creative people including poets and musicians.

TRADING STANDARDS

Cash for gold traders target village homes

RESIDENTS are being reminded to shop around when selling jewellery after "cash for gold" traders targeted a village near Haverhill.

Suffolk Police received two reports that traders were knocking on doors in Hundon around 11am on Tuesday, and offering to buy jewellery.

One of the incidents took place in the village's Farmerie Road and another occurred in Windmill Rise.

The police referred the incidents to Suffolk Trading Standards.

The trading standards authority advises residents who want to sell their jewellery to visit a reputable local dealer and have it valued. This means that if you choose to sell it to another dealer or online, you will have a base idea of what its price should be.

The council-run body also warns residents to beware of "rogue dealers", who may not return your jewellery if you leave it with them for a quote.

Residents are advised to read the small print when considering selling their jewellery, as there may be hidden fees. This could include refining fees, postage fees and appraisal fees.

If you are concerned about the Hundon incidents, or want advice or to report another gold trader, you can call Suffolk Trading Standards on 03454 040506.

LOOKING PLEASED: AS-level students at Samuel Ward Academy

A-level pass rates are up

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

BOTH of Haverhill's high schools saw high pass rates last Thursday, as students received their A-level results and looked forward to starting university, apprenticeships and work.

At the town's Samuel Ward Academy, the 111 students passed 98 per cent of subjects, with 77 per cent being awarded A* to C grades. The school celebrated an 11 per cent rise in the number of A* to B grades, which was 43 per cent.

At Castle Manor Academy, the results for the 36 students were similar, with 93 per cent of subjects passed and 78 per cent receiving A* to C grades.

One of the most exceptional students in the town is Tom Quarrell, 18, a Samuel Ward pupil, who achieved 3 A*s.

He is going on to study medicine at Clare College, Cambridge.

He said: "I tried not to guess my results - I'm happy with it."

"My mum asked my permission to put it on Facebook."

The school's Jack Sheppard also achieved three A* grades and has a place to study medicine in 2017.

Kier Beasley and Nathan Bowd both achieved two A* grades and an A, and Imogen Cottage achieved an A* and two As.

Kier, who is set to study history at Warwick University, said: "I wanted to be surprised yet satisfied, and I am."

Imogen, who also has a

RESULTS TIME: Castle Manor Academy students

history place lined up at the University of East Anglia, said: "I'm really excited. I was very nervous before."

Nathan is set to study engineering at Sheffield and hopes to become a motor-sport engineer.

At Castle Manor, Georgia Gibson said she had been inspired by her own PE teachers to follow in their footsteps, as she prepares for a sport degree at the University of Bedford.

She said she felt "amazing" when she found out she had obtained a distinction in her BTECs in sport and health and social care, and a C in A-level photography.

Cameron Jobson, who achieved distinction* in BTEC game development and ICT and distinction in BTEC sport, is aiming to get an IT apprenticeship.

He said: "It's been a great two years. There have been some up and down moments, but mostly up."

Paige Bassett, who achieved Bs in A-level sociology and psychology and a distinction in BTEC ICT, is choosing between an apprenticeship and a place at Anglia Ruskin University.

She said: "I'm happy - I always expect the worst."

Head of Castle Manor Vanessa Whitcombe said: "We would all like to wish our students the very best for the future, whether that is at university, in further study or in the world of work, and we know they will go on to achieve great things."

Samuel Ward's head of sixth form, Imogen Senior, said: "We are immensely proud of the exceptional results the students have received."

"This is a result of their hard work and determination, and we are delighted to have supported so many students on their successful academic journeys."

Hope profits go to our town

I WAS interested to read in last week's Haverhill News of the proposal by 'Barley Homes' to build houses for sale on four unnamed sites in their designated area, three of which will be in Haverhill.

I did wonder why this story merited front page position when the information available so far was so vague, but at least it gives me the opportunity to hope that the revenue raised by the eventual sale of these houses will be spent on Haverhill, and not disappear into the general coffers of Forest Heath District Council and Suffolk County Council, the other members of this so-called housing company (who incidentally will also I assume be able to give themselves planning permission), and most certainly not be used by St Edmundsbury Borough Council to boost the finances spent on Bury St Edmunds. Perish the thought!

fences and co-operated with Suffolk police to admit further crimes.

These included six home burglaries: five in Bury St Edmunds between January and March this year and one in the Chalkstone Way area of Haverhill in May.

In the Bury St Edmunds burglaries items taken included cash, cigarettes, a games console, a tablet computer and a bracelet, while in Haverhill an iPad was stolen.

Farlie, pictured, also admitted causing criminal damage inside a Bury St Edmunds home in February, and stealing a Falcon pedal cycle from a garden in Mill Road, Haverhill, in November last year.

DC Steve Duncan, who investigated the robbery of the delivery woman, said: "This robbery was unprovoked and planned, with the victim being called to deliver food to Shepherds Court and then savagely attacked in order to steal cash.

"She sustained significant injuries just because she was doing her job and Farlie decided he was prepared to go to these lengths to get money from her.

"However, after being remanded in custody he agreed to co-operate with police to admit further crimes and was produced from prison and interviewed.

"He gave details about a number of incidents he had been involved in and also provided information that allowed officers to recover items stolen from the robbery victim.

"In her victim impact statement she described how the attack had left her with nightmares and anxiety in addition to scars on her face and chronic headaches, dizziness and nausea following the injuries sustained.

"Farlie caused misery to her and those he burgled and he will now have time to reflect on his crimes as he serves a lengthy prison term."

WATCH YOUR SPEED: MP Matthew Hancock and county councillor Mary Evans with one of the new vehicle-activated signs in Thurlow

What do you think? Have your say on our website at cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

TRAFFIC

New signs to clock speeds

NEW vehicle-activated signs (VAS) have been installed on rural roads as part of the crack-down on speeding in the Haverhill area.

The four devices, which flash up the speed at which a motorist is travelling, are to be shared between Great and Little Thurlow, Great Wrattling, Cowlinge and Great Bradley.

Their locations will be moved so that motorists could have their speeds recorded in 30 different locations.

Two similar signs installed on Haverhill roads have clocked motorists travelling at up to 90mph on residential streets.

Data collected by VAS devices is used by the police when deciding where to send their roads policing unit.

The four new signs have been funded through county councillor Mary Evans' locality budget, with support from a Suffolk County Council fund. The total cost was £12,000.

Cllr Evans decided to work on providing the sign after a meeting in Thurlow in 2013 when residents voiced their concerns.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

She said: "What was quite telling at that meeting in Thurlow was people saying: 'I don't let my children go out cycling because of speeding.' It's the blight it has on people's lives."

She said she had encountered vehicles overtaking at high speeds on 30mph village roads and added that villagers had problems with drivers travelling north out of Haverhill.

She said: "On these rural roads, there's no footpath, there's no pavement. If you are rocketing on at 60mph, you don't know what's round the corner – whether there's a combine harvester or a child on a pony."

MP Matthew Hancock joined Cllr Evans for the installation of the Thurlow sign on Saturday.

He said: "I'm delighted to see the Thurlow speed sign in operation – with Mary Evans who made it happen along with support of the parish council. Speeding in villages has long been a serious concern."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Field fire extinguished

AROUND 200 square metres of stubble field caught fire in Linton on Tuesday afternoon.

Crews from Haverhill and Cambridge were called to the fire in Back Road at 12.49pm.

Firefighters used two hose reel jets to extinguish the blaze and a farmer created a fire break with a plough.

The fire, the cause of which was accidental, was out by 2.45pm.

Opticians helps out charity with bags

HAVERHILL opticians Wardale Williams has donated 500 plastic "bags for life" to the town's poverty-tackling charity REACH, to be used distributing food.

Ann Merrigan, of REACH, said: "The donation couldn't come at a better time as with the introduction of the 5p bag charge, we are not now receiving the usual donations of carrier bags."

OBITUARY

Business champion dies at 73

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A CHAMPION of Haverhill business who had lived in the town nearly 40 years has died at the age of 73.

Rob Maidment, pictured right, who lived in Boyton Hall off Ann Sucklings Way, was a key member of Haverhill's Chamber of Commerce.

He spent much of his early life in South Africa when his family moved there shortly after the Second World War.

He moved back to the UK in 1978, and bought Boyton Hall, which was then in a run-down state, and with his family worked to restore the building.

Current chair of Haverhill's Chamber of Commerce, Paul Donno, said Mr Maidment was instrumental in delivering the town's southern bypass, drawing Tesco to Haverhill, and had been helping to campaign for the A1307 to become a dual carriageway.

Mr Maidment was also part of the Haverhill Enterprise 2000 group which championed business in the town and helped to deliver the Spirit of Enterprise roundabout sculpture.

Mr Donno said: "He was a huge, huge ambassador for the town."

"From my personal point of view, he helped me personally with everything I did for the Chamber of Commerce. It's a huge loss."

Mr Maidment was also responsible for creating the "Haverhill Car", a unique 1930s-style vehicle based on the body of a 1970s Cadillac.

The car was first created around 16 years ago and has been adapted since.

Mr Maidment even published a book about the Haverhill Car in 2005.

ABOVE: The collection now on display. Right, a close-up of a crested china cone

Crested china on display

A RARE collection of Haverhill-crested china has gone on display in the town.

The 18-piece collection of 1930s Goss china was acquired by the Haverhill and District Local History Group after the death of its former owner.

History group chair Roy Brazier said: "It's something we are very proud of."

The china is on display at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

Vet has more cake than you can wag a tail at

A HAVERHILL vet's surgery is holding a coffee morning with a twist – as well as coffee and cake for humans there will be cake for dogs and the opportunity to have your pet groomed by a professional.

The event is set to take place at Homefield Road Veterinary Surgery from 10am to 1pm on Friday, September 30. Proceeds will go to two cancer charities.

MP welcomes latest employment figures

MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock has welcomed new figures which show that nearly 1,000 more people are in work in his constituency than in 2010.

The number of people claiming out of work benefits in West Suffolk has fallen by 934 since 2010 – a drop of 60 per cent. Full-time work has accounted for three-quarters of employment growth since 2010.

MUSIC

Incidentally, Dale and his band are up for an award

NEW BAND: Dale Bennett and the Incidentals

A HAVERHILL band which released its first album this month has been recognised on TV and radio and has received an awards nomination.

Dale Bennett and the Incidentals released the album Signals on August 13 and just two days later the indie-pop musicians were recording an interview to be aired on BBC Introducing, a radio station for up-and-coming artists.

Two of the tracks from the album have been featured on BBC Introducing and the band's music is also set to be played on ITV's This Morning tomorrow.

"It's going out to a couple of million people, which is amazing," said singer and guitarist Dale. "Since we recorded it and got it going we have seen a lot more opportunities."

Haverhill resident Dale previously released an album as a solo artist, but decided to form a band last year. The current line-up, with Alex Coombes and Michael Pulman on guitar, Luke Andrews on drums and Jack Sunaway on bass, has been going just four months.

The band has already received

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

a nomination for Best Pop Act at the Cambridge-based New Music Generator awards.

The musicians will discover whether they have won the award at a ceremony in October.

Dale said: "I feel like the year we have had, we're in with a good shot at winning it."

The band has also released a video for the single Just a Little, which has had nearly 1,000 views on YouTube, while a launch party for the album at the New Croft in Haverhill's Chalkstone Way saw 150 residents turn out in support of the local musicians.

Dale said the band would continue to tour and snap up any opportunities that came their way as a result of the album release.

He said: "I'm feeling really optimistic."

The album is available to download at all major online retailers, including iTunes, Amazon and Google Play, and CDs are on sale at all Dale Bennett and the Incidentals gigs.

HEALTH

Views needed on health cuts plan

RESIDENTS are being urged to respond to a consultation on cuts that would see services for vulnerable adults in Haverhill moved to Ipswich.

The West Suffolk and Ipswich and East Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Groups (WSCCG and IESCCG) say they need to shave £13million off their combined budgets.

More than 600 people have already responded to a consultation on cuts to IVF and marginalised and vulnerable adults (MVA) services, that could save the CCGs £1million.

The proposed cuts would see MVA services – for patients including homeless people, refugees and gypsies and travellers – focused on Ipswich. This would mean that a current MVA clinic held in Haverhill every Wednesday would no longer go ahead.

Consultation documents say that 35 patients would be affected, and it has been proposed as the majority of demand for MVA services in Suffolk is in the Ipswich area.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

Cuts to IVF fertility treatment are also proposed.

The CCGs currently fund two rounds of IVF for women aged up to 40 and one cycle for women aged up to 42. They are proposing reducing this either to one cycle for women up to the age of 40, or no cycles at all unless couples apply for special funding.

The MVA proposals would save £369,000 while the IVF proposals would save up to £690,000.

There are just two weeks left to have your say, as the consultation ends on Friday, September 9.

The CCGs' chief officer Ed Garratt encouraged residents to give their views, saying: "These proposals are not being made lightly and we know what impact they could have on people's lives. However, the CCGs have to be honest about their financial situation. Change has to happen to ensure the future sustainability of core NHS services."

Haverhill town councillor Clive Turner also encouraged locals to speak out, saying that while the proposals would save money in the short term, they might have long-term consequences for the people of Haverhill.

He said that residents should use their local knowledge to suggest alternative ways to save money in the Haverhill area.

To take part in the consultation go to ipswichandeast-suffolkccg.nhs.uk/Haveyoursay and click on "public engagement".

HONOURED: Cleves Place manager Sharlene Van Tonder is presented with an award by Care UK regional manager Phillip Steyn

Great awards result for care home

A CARE home that has been open for less than 18 months has received two awards.

Cleves Place care home in Haverhill's Millfields Way opened in March 2015 and since then has been innovative in its approach to dementia care, opening a pub and "curiosity shop" for residents.

The home was recognised at the Suffolk Care UK awards, held on Tuesday, August 16.

Cleves Place received the "Great Dementia Care" award, and staff member Anna Kidd was presented with the "Housekeeper of the Year" award. The home also received the "Suffolk Kitchen of the Year" award after residents voted for its chocolate eclairs.

COMMUNITY

New lease of life given to 300-year-old village pub

To comment on this story visit our website at cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

INNOVATIVE: Staff at the reopened Cock Inn, which now also has a village shop

A HISTORIC village inn has reopened as a shop, cafe and pub after refurbishment.

The ribbon was cut at the Cock Inn in Thurlow on Saturday by MP Matthew Hancock.

Residents had the pub listed as a community asset and tried to make a bid on it after the previous owner announced it was being sold.

As the only public space in Thurlow apart from the village hall, they said it was of great value to the community.

But in the end it was successfully sold to new owner Alex Bourne and his wife Rebecca.

The Bournes have undertaken a refurbishment of the pub, and have plans to open it as a cafe in the morning for parents and remote workers.

They have also set up a shop inside the pub, which will begin trading at the end of this week, selling everything from convenience goods to farm shop supplies and even home design items.

There is set to be an upstairs area housing a photography

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

exhibition.

The pub closed in February for the redesign and has been trading again since the start of August.

Mr Bourne said the response to the reopened pub had been positive and Saturday's event had gone without a hitch.

He said: "We have got a lot of locals, particularly elderly ones, who are really pleased that it's all back open."

Mr Hancock said: "The combination of a beautiful pub which serves delicious food and drink, a shop and exhibition space will be the focal point for the village."

Mr Bourne said that his plans for his first year running the Cock included holding food and interior design events.

The pub has been trading in the village for more than 300 years, starting life as a 17th-century coaching inn.

The show, on Friday, September 9 at 7.30pm, promises to be a perfect feast of entertainment with a cast of professional singers, dancers and musicians playing the

■ Friday, August 26 – Friday, September 2

■ Terrance Rattigan's much acclaimed play The Deep Blue Sea will be broadcast live on Thursday, September 1, at 7pm. Helen McCrory (Medea, Peaky Blinders) portrays Hester, a woman whose complicated love life unravels after a failed suicide attempt. The character of Hester, who has been described as buffeted, wretched, plaintive, strung-up and manipulative is widely seen as one of the greatest female roles in contemporary drama, so it should be interesting to see how Helen interprets it, the reviews have been abundant in their enthusiasm so far.

■ The Irish show band, The Indians, return to the arts centre on Friday, September 2, at 7.30pm. Expect some extravagant costumes and some sing-a-long Irish favourites and other hits. They went down a storm when they were at the arts centre last year so if you need cheering up, for whatever the reason, this show is the one for you.

■ The cinema front is bigger than it has ever been before (or at least since records began) with a bumper pack of six films! First off there's The Big Lebowski (18), first of the 90s Free Film Season; it is showing tomorrow at 7.30pm and stars Jeff Bridges, John Goodman and Steve Buscemi. The Dude (Jeff Bridges) likes Bob Dylan, White Russians and bowling. He doesn't like mistaken identity and thugs soiling his prized rug. The next free film (Saturday, August 27, at 2.30pm) is The Lion King (U). A cute lion cub faces up to his not-so-cute lion uncle and shows everyone that he is made of magisterial stuff. Forget the scratchy DVD, it's much better on the big screen. The final free film is The Full Monty. A motley collection of unemployed steel workers, lead by Robert Carlyle, come good by maximising their assets. It's on at 7.30pm on Saturday, August 27. It's back to animated animals for Ice Age: Collision Course (U) on Tuesday, August 30, at 2.30pm and Wednesday, August 31, at 10.30am and The Secret Life of Pets (U), screening on Thursday, September 1, at 10.30am (autism friendly performance) and again at 2.30pm. Things take a more serious turn with Race (PG) a biopic of sprinter Jesse Owens and his experiences at the infamous 1936 Berlin Olympics. Watch this at 7.30pm on Tuesday, August 30, it promises to be both emotionally compelling and visually thrilling.

COMING SOON: The Beatles: Eight Days a Week, the Ron Howard documentary of the Fab Four's early career

■ Arts centre treats for the near future include non-stop country and rock 'n' roll hits from Forever in Blue Jeans on Friday, September 9, and the premiere of The Beatles: Eight Days a Week broadcast live on Thursday, September 15. In case you haven't heard, this is the Ron Howard documentary of the Beatles' early career and features lots of previously unseen footage. The film itself starts at 7pm but get to the arts centre for 6pm and you can see the red carpet footage too.

Question – As a landlord, is it essential to use an ARLA-registered letting agent?

Christina Harris, Lettings Manager at Cheffins comments:

When looking to let your property, it is important to remember that not all lettings agents are professionally qualified. At Cheffins we are unusual in that we put each and every one of our agents through qualifications with ARLA, The Association of Residential Letting Agents. With the complex web of law, regulation and codes of practice governing let residential property, it is essential that the agent dealing with your property is keeping you safe and complying with the law, and it is only the agents registered with ARLA who can really do this. ARLA-registered agents offer a highly professional service and ensure that during every step of the process of letting your property, your money and your rights are protected. Being registered with ARLA means that your agent is different. They are backed up by Client Money Protection (CMP), so if your agent deals on the wrong side of the law, you are always covered. The agents have Professional Indemnity Insurance, so as a landlord you have peace of mind when it comes to negligence or bad advice. ARLA agents are required to be trained and qualified following a programme of Continuous Professional Development, which means that their skills are up to date and that the advice they are giving you is from a solid knowledge base. Every year tenants and landlords lose thousands of pounds through dealing with agents who are inexperienced and do not deal with client money in a professional manner. If you let your property through an ARLA agent, your money is totally protected from the word go. Lastly, if something goes wrong with your tenancy, you have the option to redress the situation by taking the matter up with ARLA. It is important when instructing a letting agent you look for the ARLA logo which should be displayed clearly on all agents' marketing material and correspondence. Too many agents in the industry are not professionally trained or up to date with the numerous legislative changes which means that as a landlord you are in potential danger of losing vast sums of money or breaking the law. ARLA requires only one agent per office to be registered, however Cheffins goes above and beyond to ensure that each of their agents goes through all of the correct training.

Niro adds flash to hybrid options

At a time when it appears that crossover models are taking over the world, Kia has just introduced a flashy hybrid vehicle that fits in neatly and delivers impressive economy figures along the way.

Priced from £21,295, the five-door, five seat car is called the Niro and it features an all-new 1.6-litre 104bhp petrol engine accompanied by a 43bhp electric motor.

Together they help to achieve combined fuel economy up to 74.3mpg with carbon emissions from 88g/km.

Buyers can choose between four richly-equipped trims called '1', '2', '3' and First Edition and all features are included as standard with no hidden add-ons. This is something that Kia does exceptionally well.

From any angle, the Niro looks the business with sharp athletic styling befitting a compact crossover but with Kia's design trademarks very apparent too. It boasts the brand's tiger-nose grille, a long bonnet, elevated headlights, bold wheel arches, high-mounted C-shaped tail

THE KIA NIRO:
Impressive stats of 74.3mpg and 88g/km

lights and a roof spoiler.

Move inside and there is lots of quality soft touch materials and a very modern, upmarket and clutter-free layout. Storage options are good with a generous boot which has a 427-litre capacity that can be increased to 1,425 litres with the 60:40 split folding rear seats dropped flat.

All models benefit from excellent connectivity systems and for the first time in a Kia, Android Auto is available which links android smartphones to Google Maps navigation, Google Play music, hands-free calls and texts plus voice recognition.

Being a hybrid, the information panel includes plenty of details about charging levels, energy flow diagrams and battery regeneration stats as well as the more traditional readouts.

Each model comes equipped with lane keep assist, hill-start assist and cruise control with speed limiter. Grade '2' adds a seven-inch touchscreen navigation system, a reversing camera and all the Kia Connected Services featuring TomTom.

INSIDE: Comfortable and informative

First Edition models gain autonomous emergency braking, blind spot detection with rear cross traffic alert and a smart cruise control.

We tried two versions of the Niro. First up was the range-topping First Edition, priced at £26,995 which can sprint from 0-60mph in 11.1 seconds, tops out at 101mph, has combined fuel economy of 64.2mpg and carbon emissions of 101g/km.

The Niro is fitted with a six-speed twin clutch automatic gearbox rather than the whining CVT boxes fitted to many rival cars and it delivers a more instant response when bursts of sharp acceleration are needed.

Next up was the '2' grade Niro costing £22,795. This car has the same 0-60mph sprint time and maximum speed, but is more economical with combined fuel efficiency of 74.3mpg and carbon emissions of 88g/km.

Kia has announced its pledge to reduce the average CO2 emissions of its line-up by 25 per cent before 2020 and the new Niro is certainly a clear indication of Kia's drive towards a greener future.

Rovers are held to draw by Melford

Football

IT was a frustrating evening for Haverhill Rovers on Tuesday as they were held to a 1-1 draw at home to Long Melford in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Rovers created good chances from the kick-off, with Mitchell Burr hitting a shot against the bar after three minutes, and Ryan Weaver also smacking the woodwork with a header that had the Melford keeper well beaten.

Yet it was the away side who took the lead in the 31st minute, Nathan Rowe scoring on the rebound from close range.

Rovers netted a deserved equaliser on the hour through Weaver, but despite creating more chances at the other end, they were unable to find a winner.

It came after Rovers saw a 2-1 lead slip as they lost 3-2 at home to Walsham-le-Willows on Saturday.

After falling behind in the first half, Rovers equalised through Luke Haines before the interval.

Weaver gave Rovers the lead after the break but a defensive mix-up allowed Walsham to equalise.

A red card saw Walsham go down to 10 men, but with three minutes left the visitors grabbed a late winner.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough had to settle for a point after a 2-2 draw at Stowmarket.

Stowmarket went in front early on but Jarid Robson equalised in the 30th minute with his first goal for the club.

Borough took the lead 10 minutes into the second half through Matt Staines, but Stowmarket equalised with just two minutes left.

The winners of each of the seven divisions, from ungraded to sixth dan, meet in a grand final, with the result being based on personal improvement and which martial artist has pushed their technical ability the most.

Martial arts

And Lee only narrowly missed out on taking the overall Daruma Trophy, with the honour going to the third dan champion.

KenYuKan were also represented by Lee's teacher Martin Clark, who lost 2-1 to eventual sixth dan winner Oliver Bischoff of Germany, and fifth dan Brian Tott, who was the oldest competitor at 76.

The club holds training sessions at West Wickhall Village Hall on Thursday nights and Sundays. For more information call 01440 763003.
